LOGISTICS & OPERATIONS

Insight 1 — Late Deliveries Are Hurting Profitability

The dashboard reveals that a significant proportion of orders are flagged as late deliveries, particularly in the Fashion and Sports categories. This suggests logistical inefficiencies in high-demand product lines that are directly impacting customer satisfaction and repeat purchase rates. Management should prioritize improving shipping times in these categories.

SALES & REVENUE

Insight 2 — Europe and Latin America Drive the Most Revenue

The Sales by Market visual shows that Europe and Latin America consistently generate the highest sales volumes across all product categories. However, the Profit by Region matrix reveals that high sales do not always translate to high profit, indicating that discount rates in these markets may be too aggressive and need to be reviewed.

MARKET SEGMENTATION

Insight 3 — Consumer Segment Dominates Orders

The Sales by Segment pie chart shows that the Consumer segment accounts for the largest share of total orders compared to Corporate and Home Office segments. However, the Corporate segment generates disproportionately higher profit margins per order, suggesting that targeting corporate clients more aggressively could significantly improve overall profitability.
